Risk Disclosures

The Issuers and financing that microLEAP may introduce you to, are private businesses. When considering investing in private companies, you must take into account the risks inherent in the transaction and the private businesses.

- From the information we provide to you or through the use of our website, you can provide funds to unlisted companies which may be a start-up or newly formed entities in the Micro, Small and Medium Enterprise (MSME) sector looking for funding to either support their operations or start a new project or in process of launching a new product. With no long successful history or track record, your investment note will be at a risk of losing significant value.
- Due to the nature of the investment the Investor will not be able to cancel his investment note twenty-four (24) hours after investing or ask for the return of his capital prior to the Maturity Date.
- Where you are considering financing to a sole proprietorship, partnership, including a limited liability partnership, private limited company or an unlisted public company, bear in mind the risk that the Issuer may not be able to meet its payment obligations.
- Finance to an Issuer may be unsecured. Therefore, in case of failure of the Issuer to repay debt, the Investor will rank equally with all other unsecured creditors. In the event any form of security is offered to the Investor for the investment note, Investors shall take sensible and reasonable steps to verify the enforceability of the security and to determine for themselves whether it provides adequate security, by seeking independent legal advice.
- Financing made to sole proprietorship, partnership, including a limited liability partnership, private limited company or an unlisted public company are not readily realisable like other investments in listed companies where a readily available secondary market exists for debt. Therefore, before making any financing decisions you should assess your future financial needs as you may not be able to find an immediate buyer for your investment note in unlisted companies.
- When extending financing to an Issuer, the Investor will have no control over the day to day operations of the Issuer.
- At the time of investing in any investment note you can review the terms of the Issuer Agreement, Terms and Conditions to the Investment Note and other related documents. We urge you to read these terms and conditions carefully and seek independent legal advice on their meaning and effect. We will not be liable to you for any failure by the Issuer to honour rights attached to the Financing.
- Investors should consider whether the Issuer's application sufficiently describes the various risks and conflicts of interest relating to the applicant business, the application and Issuer's operations. microLEAP have no ability to assess whether all such risks have been accurately described or disclosed and will not have any responsibility for any failure to do so. Before making any investment or financing decisions, you should fully assess the risks involved and should query any matters where you feel inadequate risk disclosures have been made.

Warning

Prospective Investors should note that past performance should not be seen as an indication of future performance. The value of an investment note and the income from it can increase or decrease depending on a number of different factors and Investors may not get back the amount originally invested. Therefore, you should only make investment which you can afford to lose without having any significant impact on your overall financial position or commitments. Taxation levels, bases and reliefs may change if the law changes and independent advice should be sought. microLEAP shall not be liable for any legal, investment or tax issues in connection with any Financing you decide to make through the Platform, our website or from information we have provided to you.
